A Shareable Welcome & Connection Guide

WELCOME TO KUFA

Connected without being controlled. Unified without becoming uniformed. Organized without losing relationship.

Pastors • Churches • Emerging Ministries • Clergy • Volunteers • Professionals • Kingdom Servants • 2026

If You Are Receiving This Guide

If you are receiving this guide, someone within Kingdom Unity Fellowship Alliance believes you should know who we are. They see something in your calling, your ministry, your experience, your gifts, your service, or your desire to make a difference. They are not asking you to make a rushed commitment. They are inviting you into a meaningful conversation about connection, development, support, resources, accountability, collaboration, and Kingdom service.

Perhaps you are an established pastor who does not want to build alone. Perhaps, like Rev. Cody, you have served in ministry for years and are now praying about launching the work God has placed in your heart. Perhaps you are a volunteer, professional, entrepreneur, educator, chaplain, artist, administrator, intercessor, caregiver, young adult, or emerging leader looking for a healthy place to contribute. There is room to begin by learning.

YOUR NEXT STEP CAN BEGIN WITH A CONVERSATION

This packet is an invitation to discover—not a contract, appointment, credential, or demand. Read it prayerfully. Ask honest questions. Meet the people. Learn the culture.

A Word from the Founding Presiding Overseer

We believe no leader should have to build alone. KUFA exists to strengthen what God has placed in your hands, help you develop what is still emerging, and connect you with people and resources that can make faithful ministry healthier and more sustainable. Bring your calling. Bring your questions. Bring your experience. Bring your willingness to learn and serve. We would be honored to get to know you.

*Rev. Dr. Johnnie B. Porter, Ph.D., M.Div., M.A.C.M., B.S.
Founding Presiding Overseer
Kingdom Unity Fellowship Alliance, Inc.*

The 60-Second Answer: What Is KUFA?

IN ONE SENTENCE

KUFA is an interdenominational Christian fellowship alliance that connects and strengthens pastors, churches, clergy, ministry leaders, volunteers, professionals, and Kingdom-minded partners through covenant relationships, leadership development, pastoral support, shared resources, accountable service, and collaborative ministry.

We are building a national and globally minded fellowship where leaders can remain faithful to their God-given identity while gaining relationships, development, support, resources, and opportunities to serve. KUFA does not exist to absorb churches, erase denominational identity, manufacture titles, or compete with the local church. We exist to help leaders and ministries become stronger because they are connected.

Three Questions	KUFA Answer
Why do you exist?	To unite leaders, strengthen churches, develop people, share resources, care for servants, and transform communities through Christ-centered collaboration.
What makes KUFA different?	Covenant relationship without unhealthy control; structure that serves ministry; national vision with local expression; development before title; collaboration before competition.
How do I begin?	Learn who we are, connect with a KUFA leader, participate in an alignment conversation, identify your needs and gifts, and discern the right relationship or service pathway.

1. Who We Are

Kingdom Unity Fellowship Alliance, Inc. (KUFA) is a fellowship designed to connect and strengthen Kingdom leaders and ministries through covenant relationship, leadership development, mutual support, shared resources, accountability, and collaborative ministry. We are building beyond one personality, church, generation, denomination, state, or nation.

Our Mission

To strengthen leaders, churches, and communities through covenant relationships, leadership development, mutual support, shared resources, accountability, and collaborative Kingdom ministry.

Our Vision

A spiritually healthy, organizationally sound, multigenerational, nationally connected, and globally engaged fellowship in which pastors and churches are strengthened, emerging leaders are developed, volunteers and professionals are activated, and communities experience sustained Kingdom impact.

Our Motto

KUFA

Uniting Leaders. Strengthening Churches. Transforming Communities.

Our Vision and Foundation

One vision. One purpose. One Kingdom. KUFA is establishing strong foundations for generations to come.

VISUAL CONTEXT

This visual is preserved as a vision-development graphic. The current official leadership title is Founding Presiding Overseer, and current KUFA documents govern wherever earlier wording differs.

2. Why KUFA Exists

Ministry Reality	KUFA Response
Isolation	Relationship, peer connection, pastoral encouragement, district fellowship, and national belonging.
Limited access	Shared knowledge, resource pathways, qualified relationships, referrals, training, and collaborative opportunities.
Leadership fatigue	Care, prayer, mentoring, wellness, delegation, sustainable pace, and support for ministry families.
Emerging calling	Discernment, development, coaching, ministry-launch support, accountability, team building, and next-step planning.
Organizational gaps	Administration, governance, finance, communication, technology, safeguarding, planning, and leadership systems.
Community need	Outreach, evangelism, missions, disaster response, health, education, food resilience, volunteer service, and partnerships.
Succession risk	Leader development, documentation, mentoring, emerging-generation engagement, institutional memory, and healthy transition.
Resource vulnerability	Stewardship education, marketplace relationships, grant/readiness support, collaboration, fundraising systems, and ethical resource development.

OUR PHILOSOPHY

Your ministry comes first. KUFA grows strongest when the leaders and churches connected to it become healthier—not when the Fellowship becomes larger at their expense.

3. What KUFA Is—and What It Is Not

KUFA Is	KUFA Is Not
A covenant fellowship	A takeover of a local church or ministry
A place for relationship and support	A replacement for the assignment God entrusted to you
A leadership-development environment	A title-distribution system without responsibility
A national structure with local expression	A demand that every state build everything on day one
A network for collaboration and resources	A sales floor or a way to monetize members
A place for accountability and integrity	A system of humiliation, gossip, secrecy, or unhealthy control
An interdenominational alliance	A requirement that everyone abandon their tradition or become uniform
A multigenerational institution in development	A promise that every envisioned program is already fully staffed or funded
OUR IDENTITY We are connected without being controlled; unified without becoming uniformed; organized without losing relationship.

4. What “Covering” Means in KUFA

People use the word covering in different ways. In KUFA, healthy covering is relational, biblical, accountable, transparent, and clearly defined. It is never assumed merely because someone receives this packet, attends an event, receives prayer, or speaks with a KUFA leader.

Relationship	What It Means
Exploring / Connection	You are learning about KUFA and building relationship. No formal affiliation or authority is implied.
Covenant Partnership	A recognized mutual commitment to KUFA covenant, culture, participation, integrity, and relationship.
Pastoral / Relational Support	Prayer, counsel, mentoring, encouragement, peer relationship, referral, and appropriate accountability.
Church / Ministry Affiliation	A documented fellowship relationship that respects local governance, property, identity, doctrine, and lawful responsibilities.
Organizational / Jurisdictional Relationship	Connection through National, State/Territorial, and District/Regional leadership with defined communication and support.
Appointment / Assignment	A written KUFA responsibility with scope, reporting, expectations, orientation, accountability, and review.
Credentialing / Ecclesiastical Recognition	A separate process governed by applicable KUFA doctrine, standards, documentation, and authority; never automatic.
COVENANT WITHOUT CONTROL Healthy covering should increase clarity, care, counsel, accountability, protection, and development. It should not create ownership of people, ministries, property, money, or calling.

5. The Covenant We Protect

Commitment	What It Looks Like
Unity	We choose fellowship over unnecessary division while respecting identity, conviction, and local authority.
Integrity	Our public ministry and private conduct should be trustworthy, truthful, responsible, and accountable.
Accountability	We permit loving questions, clear expectations, responsible correction, protection, and follow-through.
Participation	We communicate, engage, contribute, learn, serve, and remain relationally present according to role and capacity.
Kingdom Collaboration	We share wisdom, opportunity, relationships, resources, and strength without competing for another leader's people, platform, or assignment.

How We Do Fellowship

- We honor without idolizing.
- We disagree without destroying.
- We correct without humiliating.
- We collaborate without competing.
- We serve without controlling.
- We develop leaders without making them dependent on us.
- We build with the next generation in mind.

6. KUFA's Five-Pillar Commitment

Pillar	Meaning and Expression
T.O.U.C.H.	Teaching • Outreach • Unity • Church Support • Healing. We listen, teach, reach, connect, strengthen, and help bring healing.
C.A.R.E.S.	Covenant • Access • Resources • Empowerment • Support. We connect people with relationship, opportunity, tools, encouragement, and practical help.
A.D.V.A.N.C.E.	Our development and activation pillar: equipping people, strengthening ministry, and moving Kingdom purpose forward through education, conference, service, and leadership formation.
I.N.T.E.G.R.I.T.Y.	Our commitment to character, truth, accountability, stewardship, safety, ethical leadership, and trustworthy systems.
U.N.I.T.Y.	United in Purpose • Networking in Relationship • Interdependence • Togetherness in Kingdom Service • Yielded to Christ.

A.D.V.A.N.C.E.D.

A.D.V.A.N.C.E.D. means Aspiring Disciples Visionaries Answering National Calls through Empowerment and Development. It expresses our desire to form people who can answer the call with spiritual maturity, practical preparation, and sustainable support.

The full organizational publications remain the definitive source for formal pillar language and operating standards. This public guide explains their practical spirit for prospective partners.

7. One Fellowship—Many Expressions

KUFA uses different organizational forms because every assignment does not work the same way. Clarity helps people know where they fit and who carries responsibility.

Expression	Purpose
Executive Offices	Governance, administration, stewardship, strategy, standards, and organizational leadership.
Councils	Deliberative wisdom, covenant accountability, pastoral counsel, apostolic insight, and specialized guidance.
States / Territories / Districts	Geographic relationship, pastoral support, communication, development, coordination, and contextual ministry.
Networks	Connection, training, resources, collaboration, and implementation around a common ministry field.
Alliances	Relationship, mobilization, partnership, advocacy, professional connection, or collaborative action.
Corps	Specialized service requiring preparation, discipline, protocol, training, or professional competency.
Institutes	Structured education, ministerial formation, professional development, certification, research, and continuing learning.
Departments / Offices	Infrastructure such as administration, finance, communications, technology, records, publications, membership, and events.
Initiatives	Strategic efforts addressing a particular need or opportunity across several ministry expressions.

8. The KUFA 365 Member Experience

KUFA is more than an annual conference. The KUFA 365 Operating System is designed to help members connect, learn, gather, communicate, locate resources, and build sustainable ministry throughout the year.

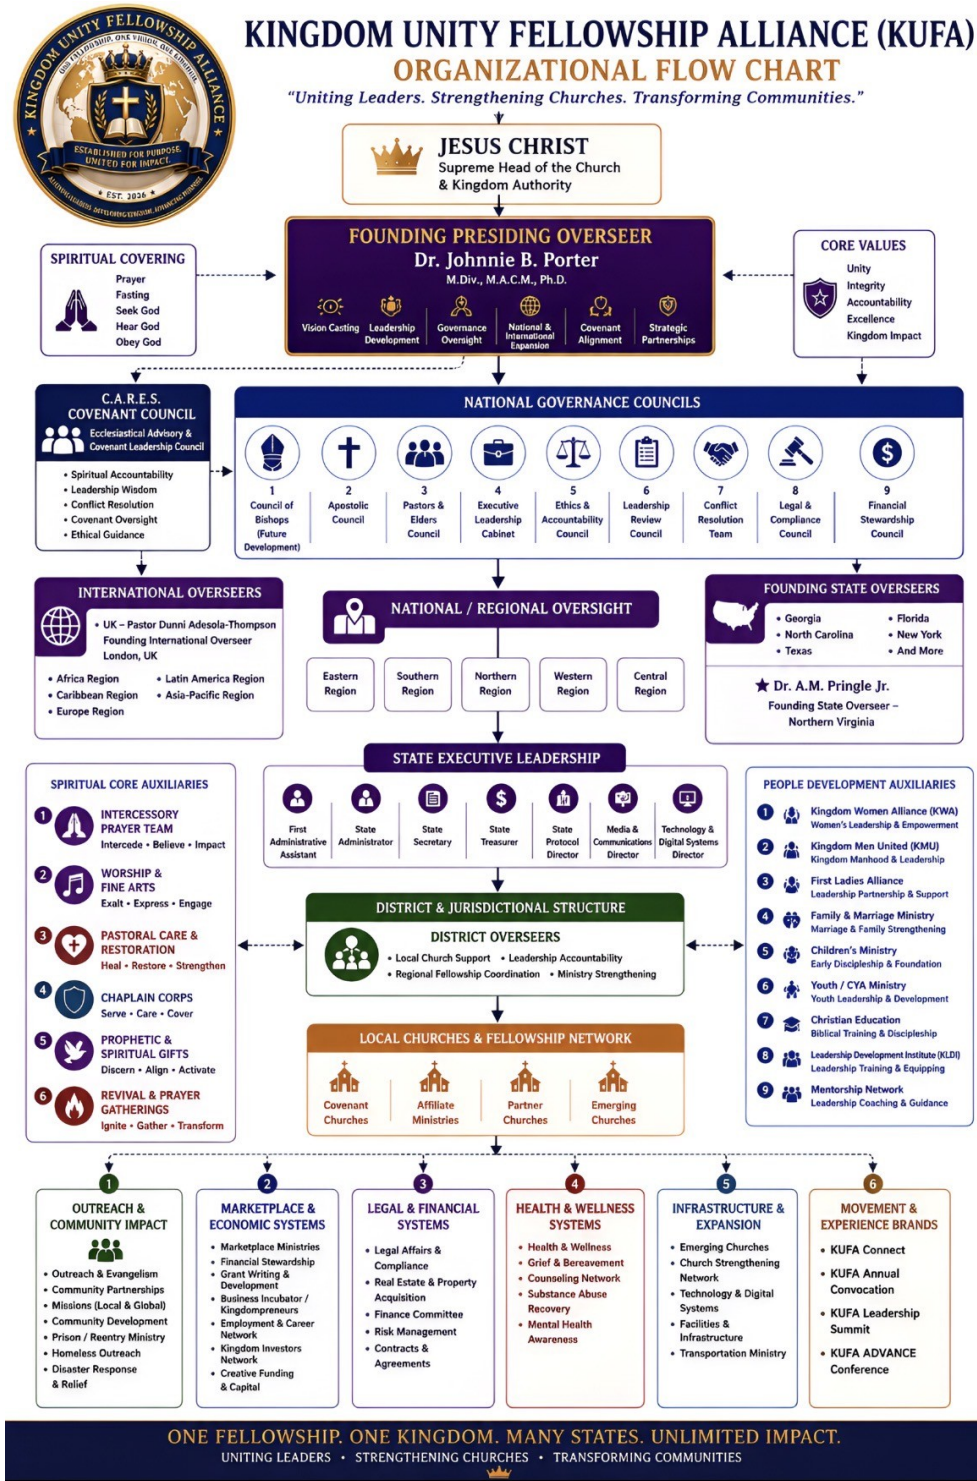

Platform	Primary Question / Experience
KUFA CONNECT	How do we connect people? Member engagement, directories, relationship pathways, groups, mentoring, and follow-through.
KUFA LEARN	How do we develop people? Orientation, institutes, leadership training, ministry courses, continuing education, and recordings.
KUFA LIVE	How do we gather? National Zooms, State and District gatherings, huddles, summits, retreats, conferences, and service events.
KUFA MEDIA	How do we tell the story? Newsletters, magazines, podcasts, videos, interviews, social media, publications, and ministry spotlights.
KUFA RESOURCE CENTER	How do we preserve and share knowledge? Guides, templates, policies, training, toolkits, archives, and approved resources.
KUFA MARKETPLACE	How do we strengthen stewardship and economic capacity? Vetted providers, education, readiness, products, services, business relationships, and reciprocal value.
VISION WITH INTEGRITY Some platforms are active; others are being built in phases. KUFA communicates current availability honestly and develops according to people, capacity, funding, safeguards, and demonstrated need.

9. Where Ministry Happens

Ministry Family	Examples of KUFA Service
Spiritual Formation & Clergy	Christian education, ministerial development, leadership formation, prayer, preaching, pastoral care, chaplaincy, apostles, pastors, and elders.
Church Growth & Gospel Mission	Evangelism, soul winning, outreach, missions, church planting, revitalization, digital evangelism, and global partnerships.
Worship, Arts & Communication	Music, worship, liturgical dance, creative arts, media, publications, technology, storytelling, events, and resource development.
Children, Youth & Emerging Generations	Children, teenagers, youth, young adults, campus ministry, mentoring, safeguarding, education, and leadership pathways.
Families, Men & Women	Marriage and family life, Kingdom Women's Alliance, Kingdom Men United, ministers' spouses, parents, caregivers, and relational support.
Health, Care & Crisis Response	Health professionals, wellness, counseling correlations, chaplaincy, bereavement, volunteer service, disaster response, member assistance, and caregiver support.
Community Transformation	Community impact, justice-minded service, food resilience, Seedtime & Harvest gardens, education, partnerships, and local development.
Stewardship, Marketplace & Resources	Financial empowerment, resource development, grants/readiness, entrepreneurs, professionals, branded merchandise, vendors, and ethical economic collaboration.

These examples describe the developing national architecture. Every State, District, church, and ministry should activate only what it can lead responsibly and sustain faithfully.

Our Organizational Vision

A comprehensive picture of KUFA's developing governance, territorial, ministry, service, and member-experience architecture.

VISUAL CONTEXT

This is a developmental vision graphic, not the controlling organizational chart. The current handbook and approved appointments govern. "First Ladies Alliance" in this earlier concept is now Kingdom Women's Alliance; proposed councils and named roles become official only through authorized KUFA action.

Organizational Architecture 2.0

The updated companion architecture reflects KUFA's expanded governance, geographic oversight, ministry families, support systems, and year-round member experience.

VISUAL CONTEXT

Use this updated architecture together with the earlier developmental vision. It organizes the broader ministry system at a readable master level; individual orientation and operational framework guides provide the governing detail for each council, department, auxiliary, alliance, network, corps, institute, office, and initiative.

10. Pathways: Where Might You Fit?

If You Are...	A Possible Starting Path
An established pastor or church	Pastoral relationship, district connection, covenant partnership, leadership support, collaborative ministry, and optional development resources.
A minister preparing to launch	Calling and readiness conversation, mentoring, church-planting pathway, governance and team development, community listening, and support relationships.
Clergy without a current local assignment	Connection, prayer, mentoring, ministerial formation, service opportunities, referral, and appropriate accountability.
A volunteer	Simple enrollment, gifts/interests inventory, screening and training as required, local/state/national placement, recognition, and sustainable service.
A professional or specialist	Serve as an adviser, trainer, provider, project volunteer, committee member, readiness partner, or qualified ministry-lane leader.
An entrepreneur or vendor	Explore ethical Marketplace participation, vetted value, fair compensation, member respect, sponsorship, procurement, or community-development collaboration.
An emerging leader / young adult	Mentoring, cohort learning, events, service projects, internships, media, campus ministry, and leadership development.
A ministry seeking partnership	Alignment conversation, mission and doctrine review, relationship building, project-specific covenant, due diligence, and mutual expectations.
A prospective officer or director	Learn KUFA first; then complete role discernment, qualifications review, orientation, written appointment, first-90-day plan, and accountability.

11. For a Minister Preparing to Launch

A ministry launch should begin with prayer, people, preparation, local listening, healthy counsel, and a sustainable plan—not pressure to perform.

KUFA can become a relational and developmental environment while you discern and build. We will not rush you into a launch date, impose a borrowed identity, or promise automatic funding, members, credentials, or appointment. We want to help you begin honestly and build healthily.

Launch Question	Support Conversation
What has God called you to establish?	Calling, people, community, theology, ministry model, timing, and evidence of readiness.
Who is walking with you?	Pastoral relationship, spouse/family, mentors, prayer team, core team, accountability, and qualified advisers.
Who will be served?	Community listening, demographics, existing churches/resources, genuine needs, assets, culture, and partnerships.
How will it be organized?	Doctrine, governance, legal structure, finance, safeguarding, records, communication, volunteers, and policies.
How will it become sustainable?	Stewardship, budget, work/vocation realities, giving, resource development, pace, facilities, technology, and contingency.
How will leaders be developed?	Discipleship, delegation, training, supervision, succession, healthy boundaries, and shared ownership.
What relationship are you seeking?	Fellowship, mentoring, accountability, affiliation, covering, credentialing, planting support, or formal KUFA assignment—each clarified separately.

12. For Volunteers and Kingdom Servants

You do not have to preach, pastor, hold a title, or lead nationally to matter in KUFA. Healthy fellowship depends on people who welcome, organize, pray, communicate, teach, create, serve, mentor, transport, plan, protect, document, build, care, and follow through.

Volunteer Promise	What It Means
Simple entry	A clear interest form and conversation before unnecessary paperwork.
Right-sized service	Assignments matched to gifts, time, location, life season, accessibility, and readiness.
Preparation	Orientation, role description, supervisor, screening, safety, tools, and training proportionate to the assignment.
Respect	No shaming, coercion, hidden expectations, exploitation, or assumption that availability is unlimited.
Support	Communication, prayer, supervision, supplies, reimbursement rules, problem-solving, and appropriate care.
Recognition	Quarterly and annual appreciation, testimony, certificates, merchandise, fellowship, and development opportunities as resources permit.
Growth	Pathways from participant to team member, coordinator, trainer, director, adviser, or other leadership where calling, character, competence, and capacity align.
Healthy exit	Freedom to pause, change roles, or conclude service responsibly without retaliation or loss of dignity.

13. What You Can Expect from KUFA

- Relationship and a genuine sense of fellowship.
- Prayer, encouragement, pastoral and ministry support.
- Leadership development, mentoring, education, and opportunities to grow.
- Access to shared knowledge, practical guides, ministry resources, and collaborative relationships as they are developed.
- Opportunities to serve through local, District, State/Territorial, national, international, auxiliary, council, professional, volunteer, and project expressions.
- Clearer pathways for emerging leaders and ministries to develop responsibly.
- Respect for local-church autonomy, ministry identity, denominational heritage, property, and God-given calling.
- Honest communication about what is available now, what is developing, what requires qualification, and what KUFA cannot promise.
- A Fellowship committed to strengthening—not supplanting—the ministry God has already entrusted to you.

What KUFA Cannot Guarantee

- A title, office, credential, ordination, jurisdiction, salary, contract, funding, grant, church building, membership growth, or national platform.
- Immediate activation of every program in every location.
- Confidentiality that conceals abuse, danger, exploitation, financial misconduct, criminal conduct, or mandatory-reporting matters.
- Agreement on every nonessential practice across an interdenominational fellowship.

14. What KUFA Asks of You

- Learn the Fellowship before representing it.
- Come prayerfully, learn carefully, align honestly, and build faithfully.
- Honor Unity, Integrity, Accountability, Participation, and Kingdom Collaboration.
- Remain rooted in Scripture, prayer, service, humility, and the local church.
- Communicate with the leadership structure connected to your role and geography.
- Participate according to your covenant, assignment, capacity, and season.
- Protect confidential and sensitive information while reporting safety and integrity concerns responsibly.
- Support fellow leaders rather than compete with them.
- Respect professional services, contracts, intellectual property, legitimate compensation, and organizational resources.
- Carry your assignment responsibly if you accept an appointment.
- Help identify, encourage, mentor, and develop future leaders.
- Build something that can outlive your tenure.

PARTICIPATION WITH GRACE

Relationship requires presence, but healthy participation is sustainable. We want service to become an extension of what God is already doing in your life—not a distraction that harms your family, church, health, or livelihood.

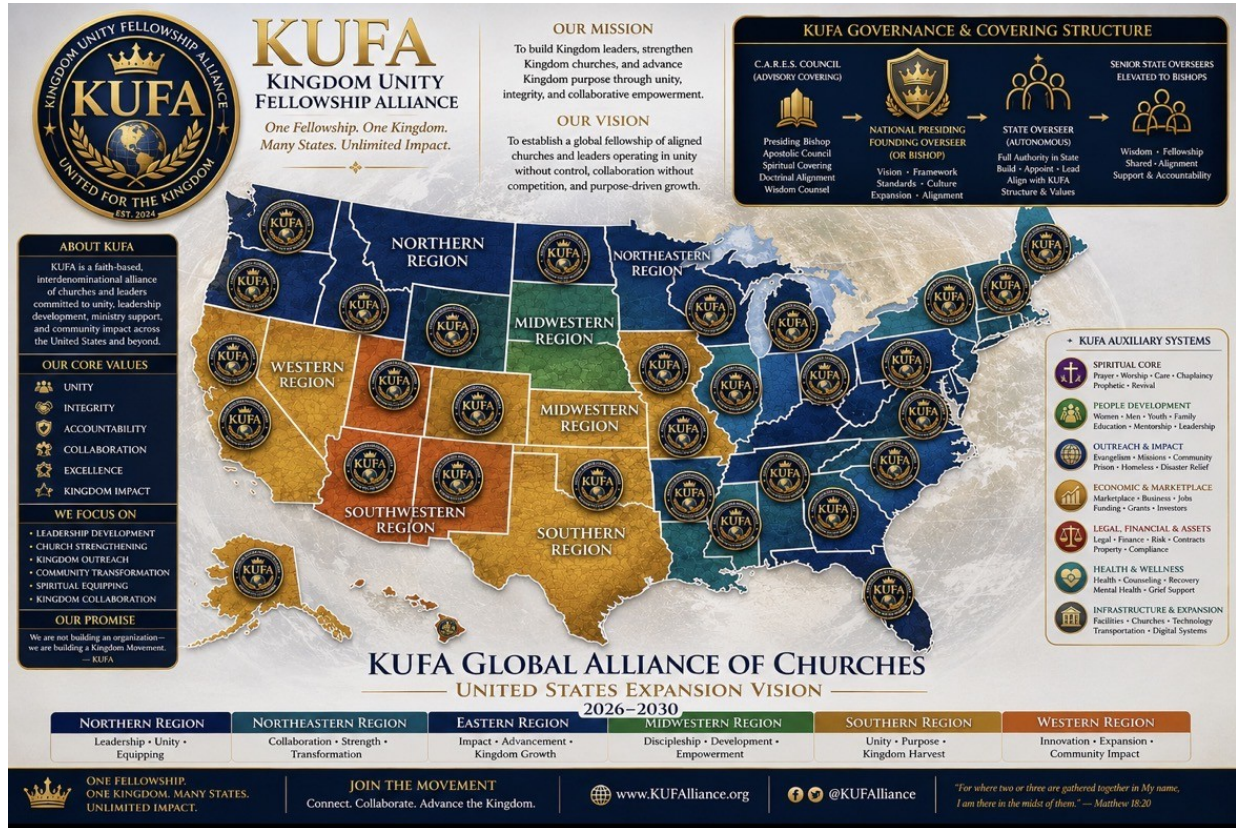

15. How KUFA Is Organized

Level	Relationship and Responsibility
National / Global Fellowship	Identity, doctrine, covenant, governance, standards, major development systems, national ministry architecture, and global connection.
State / Territorial Leadership	Contextual leadership, statewide relationships, pastoral care, development, communication, ministry coordination, and responsible growth.
District / Regional Leadership	Closer-to-home relationship, check-ins, local connection, support, communication, coordination, pastoral care, and recruitment.
Pastors, Churches & Ministries	Spiritual leadership, worship, discipleship, evangelism, fellowship, service, local governance, and community presence.
Members, Volunteers & Professionals	Gifts, expertise, prayer, service, generosity, relationships, learning, innovation, and practical ministry capacity.
Communities We Serve	People and places where compassion, truth, justice, development, healing, service, and Gospel witness become visible.

FLOW OF SERVICE

National serves the States. States serve their Districts. Districts serve pastors and churches. Pastors and churches serve people. Together, we serve the Kingdom of God.

United States Expansion Vision

One fellowship. One Kingdom. Many states. Unlimited impact.

VISUAL CONTEXT

This map is an illustrative expansion concept rather than an official jurisdictional assignment. State, regional, governance, leadership, date, and contact information may reflect an earlier planning stage. Current information is governed by KUFA records and the official website: kufaglobal.org.

Our Developing Regions

Regional structure helps bring relationship, support, communication, and ministry development closer to leaders and churches.

VISUAL CONTEXT

This regional image expresses the developing national vision. It is not a final state-assignment map. Current State, Territorial, District, and Regional designations should be verified through official KUFA leadership and kufaglobal.org.

16. The KUFA Culture You Should Experience

Culture Rule	Expected Behavior
No Competition	Celebrate another leader's growth; do not recruit against churches, diminish others, compete for visibility, or exploit KUFA relationships.
Protect Leaders	Refuse gossip and unnecessary humiliation; address concerns responsibly. Protection never means concealing wrongdoing.
Participation Required	Remain relationally present and engaged according to role and capacity; do not seek identity or office while consistently disconnected.
Integrity First	Choose truth, stewardship, safety, accountability, and right conduct when money, influence, opportunity, relationship, or reputation is involved.
Development Before Title	Prepare people for responsibility; do not use appointment as a substitute for calling, character, competence, relationship, or capacity.
Local Ministry Comes First	KUFA participation should strengthen—not drain, confuse, compete with, or control—the church and ministry already entrusted to you.
Build at a Sustainable Pace	Start where you can. Do what you can carry faithfully. Develop people and systems before expanding activity.
Relationship Before Program	Know people, listen to context, build trust, clarify expectations, and understand need before launching another initiative.

17. Your Journey Into KUFA

Step	What Happens
1. CONNECT	A KUFA member or leader introduces the Fellowship; you review this guide, visit the website, attend an open gathering, or request conversation.
2. ALIGNMENT CONVERSATION	We learn your story, calling, church/ministry, location, needs, interests, expectations, capacity, questions, and desired relationship.
3. COVENANT PARTNERSHIP	Where mutual alignment exists, the person, church, or ministry intentionally agrees to KUFA covenant and the appropriate relationship status.
4. INTEGRATION	You connect with the appropriate State/Territorial, District/Regional, pastoral, ministry, volunteer, professional, or communication structure.
5. ACTIVATION	You participate, learn, serve, collaborate, and—where separately appointed—carry defined leadership responsibility with orientation and support.

No Pressure

You may attend, learn, ask questions, pray, and build relationship before deciding whether covenant partnership is right. KUFA also discerns fit carefully. Healthy relationship is mutual.

18. Your First Conversation

A KUFA leader does not need to “sell” the Fellowship. The goal is to listen, answer accurately, learn the person’s story, and identify the next relational step.

Ask	Listen For
Tell me about your ministry journey.	Calling, experience, joys, wounds, transitions, relationships, preparation, and present season.
What is God stirring in you now?	A church/ministry launch, renewed calling, service desire, development need, partnership, care, or uncertainty.
What kind of connection are you seeking?	Fellowship, covering, mentoring, accountability, resources, training, volunteer service, office, partnership, or referral.
What would healthy support look like?	Practical expectations, communication, geography, time, cost, boundaries, family/church realities, and immediate needs.
What gifts and experience do you bring?	Ministry, professional, relational, administrative, creative, technical, community, marketplace, and lived expertise.
What questions or concerns do you have?	Autonomy, doctrine, money, time, authority, titles, governance, past experiences, confidentiality, safety, or availability.
What is the smallest helpful next step?	Website review, another conversation, local introduction, open gathering, resource, prayer, interest form, or alignment meeting.

19. A Message You Can Send with This Guide

Universal Message

COPY • PERSONALIZE • SEND

Hello! I wanted to share something with you because I believe your calling, experience, gifts, or desire to serve may connect meaningfully with Kingdom Unity Fellowship Alliance (KUFA). This guide explains who we are, what we value, what we are building, and several ways people can connect. There is no pressure or obligation—only an invitation to learn, pray, ask questions, and have a conversation. After you review it, I would be glad to connect you with a KUFA pastor or leader who can listen to your story and help you explore the next step.

Suggested Response to Rev. Cody

Rev. Cody, thank you for reaching out and for sharing that you are prayerfully considering launching the ministry God has placed in your heart. I appreciate your years of service and your openness about seeking healthy fellowship and covering. I am sending you this KUFA orientation guide so you can understand who we are, what we value, and how we support pastors, emerging ministries, leaders, and volunteers. Please read it prayerfully. I would love to hear more about your vision, the kind of relationship you are seeking, and what support would be most helpful in this season. There is no pressure to rush; let us begin with conversation, prayer, and relationship.

Short Text Version

I'm sending you a short guide about KUFA. Someone in our Fellowship thought your calling and gifts might connect with what we are building. Take a look when you can—there is no pressure. If it speaks to you, we would be glad to answer questions and connect you with a KUFA leader near you.

20. How to Connect

Connection Point	Action
Website	Visit kufaglobal.org to learn more, review public information, and use the available contact pathway.
The Person Who Shared This Guide	Ask them why they thought of you and request an introduction to the appropriate KUFA leader.
Local / District Connection	Ask to meet a KUFA pastor or District/Regional Overseer serving your area.
State / Territorial Connection	If no local connection is currently listed, request introduction to the State/Territorial Overseer or development contact.
National Connection	For national leadership, professional service, global partnership, or areas without established territorial leadership, use the official website contact pathway.
Pastor and Ministry Map	As the KUFA directory/map is developed, use it to locate verified KUFA pastors, churches, ministries, Districts, and States near you.
Open Gathering	Attend an approved public KUFA gathering, information session, service project, worship experience, or orientation event.
Interest Conversation	Request a no-pressure alignment conversation about your ministry, gifts, needs, geography, and possible next step.

Official Website: <https://kufaglobal.org>

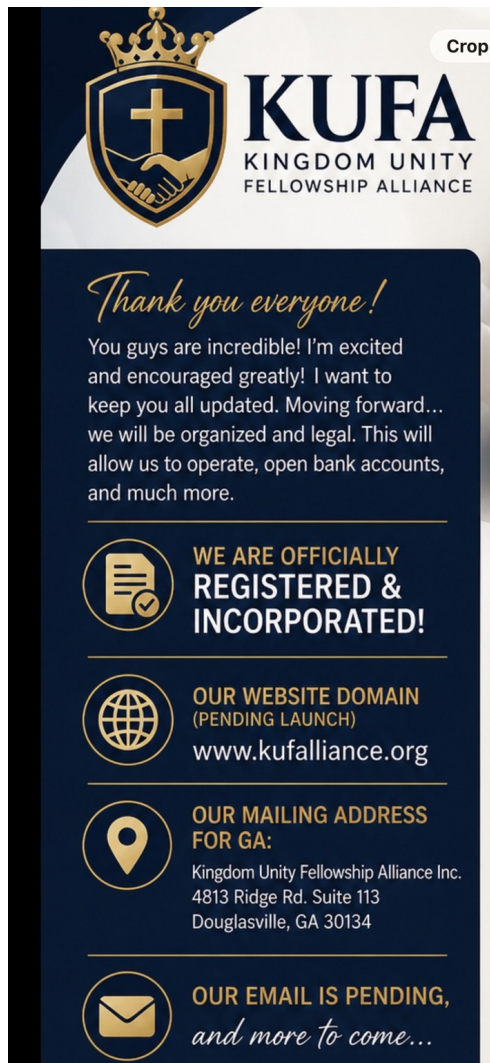

VERIFY BEFORE YOU ACT

Until the public directory/map is complete, verify leaders and opportunities through official KUFA channels. Never send money, sensitive documents, or personal information merely because someone uses the KUFA name.

22. Frequently Asked Questions

Question	Answer
Do I have to leave my denomination or church?	No. KUFA is interdenominational and respects legitimate local and denominational identity, commitments, governance, and doctrine.
Will KUFA control my church?	No. Covenant relationship does not transfer ownership, property, finances, personnel, governance, or God-given local responsibility.
Can KUFA cover a new ministry?	Possibly, after relationship, alignment, clarity, appropriate review, and a written understanding of what covering means. It is not automatic.
Can I serve without being a pastor?	Absolutely. Volunteers, professionals, educators, artists, administrators, entrepreneurs, caregivers, intercessors, young adults, and many others are essential.
Does joining give me a title or position?	No. Membership and appointment are separate. Leadership requires calling, character, competence, capacity, relationship, need, orientation, and appropriate authority.
Is everything listed already operating everywhere?	No. The national architecture is a developmental vision. States and Districts activate ministries according to people, need, readiness, funding, and capacity.
Will I be required to pay?	Any dues, assessments, registrations, offerings, services, or project costs should be disclosed clearly. Receiving this guide creates no financial obligation.
Can my business participate?	Potentially through the Marketplace or approved partnerships, with vetting, genuine value, fair terms, no exploitation, and respect for members and providers.
How do I know who represents KUFA?	Use the official website and verified National, State/Territorial, or District/Regional channels, especially before sharing money or sensitive information.

23. A 30-Day Discovery Path

Time	Simple Next Step
Today	Read the 60-second answer and “What KUFA Is—and Is Not.” Pray about what resonates and what needs clarification.
Within 7 Days	Visit kufaglobal.org. Write down your questions. Contact the person who shared the guide and request the right introduction.
Within 14 Days	Have an initial conversation with a verified KUFA leader. Share your story, location, desired relationship, needs, gifts, capacity, and concerns.
Within 21 Days	Attend one appropriate open gathering, online session, service activity, or relational meeting if available.
Within 30 Days	Decide the next small step: continue exploring, request alignment conversation, connect locally, volunteer, join a learning opportunity, or pause without pressure.

Before Any Commitment

- Understand who KUFA is and what it is not.
- Clarify the relationship you are seeking.
- Know who your KUFA connection and accountability point would be.
- Understand participation, communication, time, cost, and documentation expectations.
- Ask what is active now in your area and what is still developing.
- Confirm that your local church, family, health, livelihood, and current responsibilities can remain healthy.

24. Welcome to the Possibility

KUFA is being built through small beginnings, faithful people, honest relationships, documented systems, shared gifts, and a vision larger than any one of us. You do not have to understand every department, memorize every acronym, or know your permanent place before beginning. The first step is simply to learn, connect, pray, and have a truthful conversation.

If God has entrusted you with a church, we want it strengthened. If God is stirring you to launch, we want you prepared. If you carry professional expertise, we want it honored and used wisely. If you desire to volunteer, we want your service to be meaningful and sustainable. If you are emerging, we want you mentored. If you are seasoned, we want your wisdom shared. If you need support, we want you connected. If you are ready to help build, we want you to build with integrity.

YOU ARE INVITED

Bring what God has entrusted to you. Bring your experience. Bring your questions. Bring your willingness to learn and serve. There may be a place for your story, your gifts, and your assignment within the KUFA family.

WE BUILD TOGETHER.

WE SERVE TOGETHER.

WE ADVANCE THE KINGDOM TOGETHER.

25. Reference, Sharing & Integrity Note

This public guide draws from KUFA’s Welcome to KUFA: The Covenant, Culture & Connection Guide; Pastor & Ministry Covenant Connection Onboarding Packet; Our Story presentation; National Leadership Manual; Five Pillars; KUFA 365 Operating System; National Ministry orientation series; State, District, volunteer, marketplace, church-planting, pastoral, international, safeguarding, financial, and organizational-development materials.

Sharing Permission

KUFA pastors, overseers, members, leaders, and authorized representatives may share this guide unchanged for informational and invitational purposes. Do not remove pages, alter policies, add promises, represent developing programs as currently available, imply appointment or credentialing, or use the guide to solicit unauthorized funds.

Controlling Documents
